Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.:

Gentlemen:—The confidence I have in Perry Davis'
Pain Killer as a remedy for Colds. Coughs. Burns Sprains, and Rheumanism, for the cure of which have successfully used it, induces me to cheerfully recommend its virtues to others.

A few months ago I had recourse to it to destroy a felon; although I had never heard of its being used for that purpose; but having suffered intensely from a former one, and having no other remedy at hand, I applied the Pain Killer freely for about fifteen minutes at evening, and repeated the application very briefly the next morning, which entirely destroyed the felon, and increased my confidence in the utility of the remedy.

Yours truly,
Minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Proclamation by the Governor.

WHEREAS, The following act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, cordially approved by me on the 20th instant, is the law of the land, I think proper, in the exercise of my executive duties, to make the same promptly known to the public, as I do hereby, and I do earnestly enjoin all citizens and residents of this State to be obedient to all the requirements thereof, ito the end that the humane and noble purposes of the Legislature may be faithfully effected. The said act of the General Assembly is as follows:

Resolutions providing for the peace and quiet of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

WHEREAS, The people of Kentucky have, from the beginning, ardently desired and still cherish the hope that they may not be involved in the unnatural, prevailing civil strife that Kentucky is now, as she ever has been, willing, and ready to interpose her friendily mediation in adjusting terms of peace and re-conciliation alike honorable and just to all; but as her wishes to mediate and restore harmony may not avail at present, and it is desirable that the people in the meantime, should act in harmony, and be at peace among themselves, so that if they shall be involved in war, they will as far as possible, relieve and palliate its calamities; therefore Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That if collisions between hostile armies shall take place within our territory, that it is most earmestly recommended to the people of Kentucky not to engage in said strife amongst themselves, on account of differences of political opinions;
that it is the duty of the people to be obedient to the civil authorities, and respect in times of war as well as peace, all the guaranteed to every citizen by the Constitution and laws of the land, that all good citizens however they may differ in political opinions, should unite in protecting each other in their rights, of life, liberty, and property, against all and every invasion thereof by un lawful raids, mobs, marauding bands or other evil disposed persons, and aid the civil authorities in arresting all such persons and bringing them before the courts for trial.

Resolved, That we, the Representatives of the present General Assembly hereby pledge ourselves to a strict observance of the foregoing resolutions, and earnestly recommend a observance by all the people of the State of Kentucky.

In testimony whereof, I, BERIAH MAGOFFIN, Governor of the Com-monwealth of Kentucky, have hereanto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the State to be affixed. Done at Frankfort this 23d day of September, in the year of our Lord, 1861, and in the 70th year of the Commonwealth. By the Governor: B. MAGOFFIN.

Arrests of Members of the Kentucky Legisla-

The public were startled yesterday by rumors that Mr. Irvan of the Senate and Messrs. Ewing and Silvertooth of the House, had been arrested at Harrodsburg, on their way to their

The Constitution Art. 2, sec. 25, provides as follows:

"The members of the General Assembly session of their respective houses, and in going to, and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate, in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place."

Both Houses of the Legislature yesterday, as will be seen by the proceedings, very properly took action on the breach of privilege involved in the alleged arrest of the gentlemen named.

We trust the rumor may turn out to be an exaggeration and that the gentlemen have been permitted to go on their way home. We do not believe that either of them has been guilty of any act warranting arrest.

The civil war is giving a most remainable and unexpected stimulous to the overland emigration to California and Oregon. The tucky, all destined for the Pacific coast. Should the war last for a couple of years, it would doubtless lead to very important transfers of population. The actual seat of war, as well as all the border states likely to be affected by the conflict, would suffer severely in the emigration of its quiet and industrion settlements in the West and North. The Pa- of keeping Kentucky out of the war, and from cific coast will undoubtedly gain largely, as interfering in any way except as mediator or its industry is not affected, and it offers better inducements to the thrifty and enterprising than any other section of the country.

[For the Yeoman.] Some of the members of the present Legislature are very much exercised because some Union men agree that they have been disregarding the policy the party inaugurated in Kentucky, and had been attempting to carry out in good faith-I mean neutrality.

One's ears are dinned with the clamor that Kentucky has, in three elections, decided emphatically for the Union and for its maintenance by force of arms, and the country has seen the resolutions and acts passed, and pending in the present Legislature, to force "us all in the war, or make it disgraceful" to stay

The purpose of my remarks now is to show that our Union brethren of the present Legislature are slightly mistaken in the record. The first election alluded to was that for delegates to the Border Slave State Convention to be held in Frankfort, in May, 1861. In January preceding, the Legislature of Kentucky passed joint resolutions declaring that some of the States had been deeply aggrieve ed by the policy of the people of some of the other States; and therefore an amendment to the Constitution of the United States was indispensably necessary to secure them against similar grievances in the future.

The Legislature therefore asked Congress to call a Convention in the mode provided for by the Constitution of the United States, and they proposed Mr. Crittenden's propositions in Congress as a basis for the amendments. This was approved January 25, 1861.

On the 29th of January, '61, the Legislature of Kentucky appointed six commissioners on the invitation of Virginia, to meet at Washington with commissioners from other States, to prepare amendments to the Constitution of the United States to settle the grievances complained of by the dissatisfied States.

They also proposed the plan of Hon. John J. Crittenden to that Convention as a basis of

On the 10th of February, 1861, the Legislature of Kentucky passed, amongst other resolutions, the following:

"Resolved, That we protest against the use of force or coercion by the General Government against the seceding States, as unwise and inexpedient, and tending to the destruction of our

April 4th, 1861, the Legislature of Kentucky passed resolutions adopting the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed by Congress, "That no amendment shall be made to the Constitution of the United States, which will authorize or give Congress power to abolish or interfere in any State with the domestic institutions thereof, including that of persons held to service or labor by the laws of said State." And added the following thereto-mark the words: That said proposed amendment ought not to be accepted by Kentucky as a final settlement of existing difficulties. In all this resolving on the part of the Kentucky Legislature, if there was, or is anything indicating that the members thereof, individually or collectively, were for makeing Kentucky take part on behalf of the United States against the seceding States, I don't know where it is. I understand that members explain now when they go to vote upon the force measures, felony bills, &c., concoct ad in the secret meetings of the Union members, what they meant when they voted for the foregoing resolutions, and that they meant anything else than neutrality.

The Border Slave States Convention met at Frankfort, in May, 1861.

On the 3d day of June, 1861, after the most mature consideration and deliberation, they put forth addresses to the people of the United States and the State of Kentucky, in which they solemnly declared that the State of Kentucky, after the most deliberate considerashall, in all cases, except treason, felony, breach or surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest, during their attendance at the and social, had determined that the proper tion of the responsibilities, moral, political, course for her to pursue was to take no part in the controversy between the Government and the seceded States but that of mediators and intercessors.

Now, gentlemen Legislators of our Union party, we say that the distinguished gentlemen whom we elected by a most decided vote to the Border Slave States Convention, viz: Hon. J. J. Crittenden, Hon. James Guthrie, Hon. R. K. Williams, Hon. Arch. Dixon, Hon, F. M. Bristow, Hon. Joshua F. Bell, Hon. Chas. A. Wickliffe, Hon. G. W. Dunlap, Hon. Chas. S. Morehead, Hon. James F. Robinson, Hon. John B. Huston, and Hon. Robert Richardson, reflected in their addresses truthfully and correctly, not only the wish and will of the Legislature of Kentucky, as tion by the Governor, embodying resolutions shown by the resolutions and declarations adopted by the General Assembly, which do made at the time and in the manner herein honor to all concerned, the humane spirit of above set out, but most accurately and truththese resolutions, adopted by the Legislature, fully the wishes and the will of a great ma

From June to August precisely the same families, who would remove to more peaceful policy was pursued by the Union men-that intercessor.

It was well that the managers and wireworkers succeeded in adapting the secret conclaves to compel obedience to their behests when they determined to push Kentucky into the war. The two Houses have been so far but registering the commands of the Union conclaves held in secret. Free debate, like free speech and a free press among the people, has been suppressed by the Legislature. I have tried in my feeble way to vindicate the truth of history; war is in our midst; we have been forced into it against our settled policy. It has been done by inviting President Lincoln to place military camps amongs us. Our great Union party in Kentucky is no longer able to keep the peace, owing to the conduct of some of its professed members assuming to overrule its settled policy. The responsibility is upon them for the blood of our people. The President don't name them, but ought to be requested to give their names. The Legislature ought to call for them. They disregarded and set at nought the laws of Kentucky as embodied in the resolutions referred to. If there is any glory hereafter to be found in having pushed Kentucky from her position as mediator into that of a belligerent, the gentlemen alluded to are entitled to shall be taken or confiscated because of it all, and for one Union man who labored for the party on the peace policy upon which we succeeded, I want none of such glory or honor, and I know hundreds of others like myself. To Preserve the Peace and Quiet of Kentucky. The Legislature has adopted several important declarations concerning the peace and quiet of Kentucky.

Skirmish in Missouri.

ST. Louis, Sept. 22. The following account of the battle at the Blue Mills Landing is derived from authentic Lieutenant Colonel Scott with 570 men of the Third Iowa Regiment and one piece of artillery left Cameron on Monday, the 15th, in pursuit of the rebels who left St. Joseph on the Friday previous. Col. Scott arrived at Liberty, Clay county, on the morning of the J. W. Heeter ____ 17th, and moved from that place at 1 o'clock, P. M. At three o'clock he fell in with the enemy, 4,500 in number, occupying a strong position. Our skirmishers received a galling fire, and slowly retreated to the main body, of the Knickerbocker Magazine. It is full of terrible significance:

When the action became general. Our sixpounder was brought to bear on the enemy, and a few shots was a few and a few and a few shots was a few and a few and a few shots was a few and a fe structive. At this time a heavy fire opened This dread of incurring the name of "abo- on our single gun, killing our gunner and wounding two others. After this several matches, rendering the piece useless. The acumn was withdrawn to more open ground, bringing off the wounded and dragging away the gun by hand, all the horses having killed or badly wounded. About this time eron for the same general purpose, joined the latter, having pushed forward his mounted men and artillery at a rapid pace. On receiving a message from Col. Scott ten miles back that he was advancing on the enemy, but it being night and their men being con strongly entrenched at a thicket, it was imhad crossed the river before daylight, taking the road towards Lexington. Our loss is killed 5; wounded 84; missing 6. Three of the missing are supposed to be in the hands of the enemy, and the balance killed. In ad-dition to the loss of the Third Iowa there were six Home Guards and one artilleryman killed-among them Capt. Capp-and about ten wounded, four of them Home Guards, in skirmishes about two hours before the battle. It is perhaps proper to state that Gen. Pope gave orders to Col. Scott, of Minnesota regiment, to remain at Liberty until joined by Col. Smith, but learning on arrival at that place, that the enemy were five miles word to that effect, and pushed on and gave the rebels battle.

ARREST OF EX-GOVERNOR MOREHEAD .-Prepared, as we have been by recent oc urrences, for almost any exercise of power we confess to no little surprise on reading the announcement of the arrest of ex-Gov. Chas. S. Morehead. He has always been noted for his conservative principles. No man was mere devoted to the Union, or has labored nore earnestly to avertthe terrible calamities under which the country is suffering; no man has made greater exertions to maintain Kentucky in her position of neutrality.

Gov. Morehead has filled many important public trusts, and in no instance has his integrity been questioned, whilst his private life has illustrated those graces and virtues which at once command respect and admiration. His friends will not readily believe that he has been guilty of any offense justifying his arrest and transportation beyond the limits of the State. If guilty, let him suffer the consequences. But if, as we suspect, he has been arrested for opinion's sake, let the Legislature of Kentucky, acting in accordance with the spirit of the Conklin and Finnell rosolutions, demand his instant release .- Cov. Mr. Lucus lived only about two hours after he received the discharge, during which time he retained the entire possession of his senses, and it is most gratifying to know that his whole bearing in the painful crisis, was that of a true and brave man, and a christian. He expressed sympathy for his young friend who accidentally shot him, and requested that he should not reflect upon himself, it being merely a casualty of war. We take the following from the New York Evening Post, (Republican.) England needs watching:

ANOTHER CROAK FROM THE BIRD OF ILL-OMEN-THE LONDON TIMES ON AMERICAN WAR PROSPECTS.

The London Times of September 4 has this croak over American affairs: The crash of a new political world is an awful phenomenon. War has dashed like a comet upon the great American republic, and all the the institutions and destinies of that mighty Union seem scattered in fragments around. It is impossible to predict the formations which may survive after the convulsion has passed away, but all that we now see tends irresistibly to convince us that we shall never again behold that specimen of political organization which so amazed us with its growth and impressed us with its apparent vigor. The United States of North America have ceased to be. Whether their place will be taken by two Unions or twenty, whether the principle of confederation will be merely limited or absolutely discarded, nobody can venture to foretell, but we can not so much as imagine any course of events which will leave the last state of things with so much re semblance to the first. Enough has now been learnt to show that the subjugation of the South is next to impossible, and its submission in the highest degree improbable. The territories of the old Union will be divided, nor will the partition be territorial Between North and South there will be barriers of feelings, interests and tradi-tions. They will long look upon each other with jealousy and suspicion, if not with still worse sentiments, and the "frontier" will require the same garrisons and observances as that between two monarchies of the European continent. This, however, presumes the maintenance of standing armies, warlike estimates and oppressive taxation; while these burdens again will exercise an influence upon all social and political institutions. Never ald a more wonderful problem be present-

We need say little in defense of an assump tion that the conquest of the South by the armies of the North has now become a most improbable event. All the incidents of the war appear to have been in favor of the Confederate States. In the only engagements approaching to the character of a pitched battle the Southern troops have been victorious, and, though we hear little of their operations, it is at least certain that they are aggressive and that the Federal Government is alarmed for the safety of the Capital. With affairs in such a state every day detracts from the chances of compromise, except on the basis of a recognized separation; and it will have been seen, indeed, from our New York correspondence that the staunchest Federalists have now brought themselves to contemplate this disruption of the Union as a possible result. Hitherto the lapse of time, while it has evidently added to the confidence of the South, has brought little accession of strength The States adhering to the North. the Union do, indeed, contribute men and munitions on a scale which does honor to their patriotism, but the battalions are undisciplined, ill-equipped, and what is worse than all, insubordinate. The reverses and privations of an unsuccessful war are very different from the glories of the brief campaign which was contemplated by the President's volunteers, and the jealousy which the Americans entertain of all authority finds its expression even in a camp. On the other and, the Southerners, less addicted to the institutions of Democracy, less imbued with ideas of social equality, and conscious, probably, of a more desperate position, have carried far greater energy to the work of war. We can see that in the South power is concentrated, and we find the natural results in a clear military superiority. These, however, are not the only points at enormously increased, and that weakness of tion is rapidly giving place to a very despotic species of authority. Complaints were actually made in Congress about the tyrannical proceedings of Government officers, and the jurisdiction of a Provost Marshal is tolerated in Washington itself. The latest accounts inform us that the habeas corpus act has been virtually suspended, that arrests for treason were frequent, and that Fort Lafayette was full of State prisoners. We seem in reading such reports to be carried away from republican Washington to Milan, under the the Austrian, or Naples under the Bourbon rule. plete the picture, we actually find in the land abrupt establishment of a system which the ports are dispensed with over many parts of on in the United States. It is not merely on the frontier between the two armies that United States, without a passport from the Federal Government. A traveler would find himself more at liberty in Venice than in

we can not now contemplate the subjugation and reunion of the South as a probable event, we must assume that the two sections of the Union will be established independently of each other. To venture as little as possible upon political speculations, let us assume that the schism is carried no farther, and that the United States of the North divide with the Confederate States of the South all the territory and population of the old American Republic. Each, then, of these two still powerful Unions will constitute an Administration for itself. What form will that Administration take in the South? True, the secessionists proclaimed a Constitution of an old American model, but it is clear enough that the authority actually excreised in tho is that of a military dictator, and not of a Democratic President. What will they do by and by, when they have won their independen They will probably maintain, for some time, as a matter of prudence, the organization under which they conducted a successful war and we think that nobody who has remarked the tone and current of Southern sentiments would expect to find that New England institutions would ever be received with much favor in the new Confederacy. It is more likely that they will sacrifice Democratic principles for the sake of a strong govern-ment, and that they will seek to retain power by the same means through which they acquired it—namely, by opposing the compact and concentrated force of a somewhat absolute government to the looser organization of a more popular State.

But will this impose no corresponding ob ligations on the North? Will the Unionist States sit quietly down under institutions less conducive to national strength than those of their next-door neighbor? Will they submit to the spectacle of a stronger government to the spectacle of a stronger government ton, and Totten as acting Brigadier Generals. Thomas L. Price, of Jefferson City, has been tke of that popular sovereignty which uni-ersal suffrage has created? Can they man-President. age a standing army, a national debt, and an ever present chance of border war on such terms? Will their favorite General, whoever he may, come into such conditions when elected President? Is it not, on the whole, more probable that they may retain some of the modifications of their Constitution which the war is now enforcing upor their acceptance and that the new Union will be administered by a less Democratic Government than the old? We certainly think so. The two great divisions of the States formerly united will form, we hope, two prosperous communities, but we do not expect that either of them will bear much resem-blance to the lost American Republic.

Political and Military Maneuvers-Frement and the President.

When a full account of the Fremont imroglio shall be written, it will make a curious and instructive chapter in the politico-military history of the United States.

On taken command at St. Louis, Gen. Frenont infused new life into the military operations of the West. His energetic movements and imperative commands soon brought together a heavy force at St. Louis. No trivial obstacle, no mere puestion of cost, was allowed to interfere with the execution of his plans. He ordered immense supplies, including heavy guns, to be sent forward by express. informed that the charges fo mode of transportation would be very heavy, he telegraphed back, "Send them on, immediately, regardless of cost."

This decisive action suited the temper of the Northern people. They wanted some-thing done. The "forward movement" at Washington had failed. Rivalries and jealousies were springing up in high quarters at the capital. The President, the members of his Cabinet, and even the Lieutenant-General himself, had not escaped bitter denunciation leading Republican newspapers. The hopes of the North were turned to a new scene and a new man; and Fremont bid fair overshadow all other aspirants for the Presidency. In this condition of affairs it needed but one thing more to throw the "slow coachat Washington completely off the track, and place the new man of the west far ahead of all competitors. This was accomplished. Fremont, catching the spirit of the real leaders of the Republican party, issued his famous proclamation, in which slaves, the property of rebels, were declared absolutely Next in the order of facts comes the President's REQUEST to Gen. Fremont to modify his proclamation, followed successively by Gen. Fremont's demand for a formal ORDER to that effect, and the President's ready compliance.

At this juncture, Col. F. P. Blair, a mem ber of Congress and brother of a member of the Cabinet, goes to St. Lous, and is there ordered under military arrest. [Blair will find few sympathizers. He is said to be presumptuous and overbearing, and unpuestionably, he had no small share in inaugurating the deplorable state of affairs existing in Mis-

A fact of peculiar significance, when considered in counection with the events already spoken of, remains to be stated. We have seen with what energy Fremont went to work to gather together a great army for a movement down the Mississippi. Just at the time the public had reason to suppose his arrangements were about perfected, large bodies of troops are detached from his division and when it is remembered that at least three members of the Cabinet at Washington are candidates for the Presidency, it will not be difficult to detect under the movements above detailed the progress of a big political game. As matters stand, Fremont has the advantage, and is likely to hold it. The President's rebuke will only strengthen him in the estimation of the radicals of the Republican partythe men who control the rulling sentiment of the North. Even his removal would not weaken him. In fact, we see nothing now that is likely to break the hold he has upon the confidence of the North, save his defeat on the field of battle. THAT would ruin his prospects.—Covington Journal.

General Fremont, we have always been disposed to overlook his faults and to magnify his virtues, as a politician, soldier, and patriot. But we must say that this late dashing proclamation of his, without authority and upon his own responsibility, was a very indiscreet proceeding in every point of view. COLLISION ON THE COVINGTON AND LEX-INGTON ROAD .- We learn that a collision ook place on the Covington and Lexington R. R., Friday evening, by which a number of lives were lost. The accident is said to have been caused by Mr. Boler sending down an extra train in the absense of the Superintendent, and without consulting the time table. Mr. Boler has purchased that branch of the road, and doubtless feels at liberty to send what trains he pleases, and to risk the lives of citizens, but the rash carelessness of such a course is utterly indefeasible. The Superintendent of a railroad ought to have command as complete and effectual as the leader of an army. We hope another jury will not say, as in the Philadelphia theater case, that no one is to blame.—Lou. Dem., 22d.

Committee: Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be directed to make diligent inquiry, and report to this House, whether any person or persons holding or exercising any office, Federal or State, is, or are now holding any office in the so-called Confederate States; and may send for persons and papers.

Mr. POWELL—Select Committee—A bill to amend the charter of the city of Newport. Mr. JAMES W. ANDERSON offered the following preamble and resolution, which was referred to Committee on Federal Relations: WHEREAS, S. B. Buckner, who signs himself Brigadier General in the so-called Confederate States of America, in a proclamation to the people of Kentucky, dated 18th, Septem-1861, says that he returned "at the head of a force, the advance of which is composed entirely of Kentuckians, to be used to aid the government of Kentucky in carrying out the strict neutrality of Kentucky;" now there-

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That his Excellency, Beriah Magoffin, Governor of this Common wealth, be requested to communicate to this House whether such invasion of this State by S. B. Buckner aforesaid, has been made upon any consultation advise, or recommendation of any persons connected with the Executive department of the State Government.

Also-A resolution thanking the Home Guard of Knox county, which was adopted. Also reported a bill for the benefit of the Whitley county court. Passed.

LEAVE Was granted to bring in a large number of bills, and appropriately referred.

And then the House adjourned.

Crops in Europe.

By the last arrivals we have the London Mark Lane Express and Agricultural Journal, of September 2. The leading topic, at this season, is of course the results of the harvest, on the continent as well as in the British islands.

An article, written by a correspondent of the Express, who says he has closely observed the crops in traveling for many years through the northern and midland countries, sustains the statements already published in The World, by asserting that it is "quite out of the question to suppose that the [wheat] crop can be anything like an average."

"The wheat plant," he adds, "suffered too much during the winter from wet in all heavy soils, even where well drained, and had so much cold to contend against in the spring, that it never recovered itself.

Barley presented a much better appearance than the wheat, he adds, and "will be found a good crop," Oats were light, but "promise excellent quality.'

The review of the British corn trade, in the Mark Lane Express for the week ending August 31, winds up its remarks on the crops of France, Germany, Portugal, and Italy, as well as those of the British isles, by saying: "With all the favorable weather we have had here and on the continent, rates have been Wheat is not anywhere plentiful; rye is short in Germany, maize seriously so in Italy, and potatoes are generally doubtful. Lower prices, therefore, if reached, must be transient. The harvest not being satisfactory in Portugal, all corn [grain,] excepting maize, is admitted free of duty to the 30th of April of next year."—N. Y. World, 19th.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. The Germans of St. Louis sustain General Fremont. Their brethern in Illinois and In-

FEVER & AGUE PILLS. Fir the permanent cure of Fever and Aque Chills, Fever Congestive Chills, Remittent Fever, Bilious Fever, Dumb Ague, and all periodical diseases that have their origin in the miasmatic effluvia arising from decayed vegetation. THESE "Pills" never fail to cure all of the above named Fevers, and what is better, they also act as a preventive, if taken occasionally, or daily, while exposed to the infection. Hence the old adage. "An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure." DR. MERWIN'S "Fever and Ague Pills" DIFFER FROM ALL OTHER Chill Medicines, in the following particulars:

lars: 1st. They never fail to perform a speedy and permanent cure.

2d. They are recommended only for one class of

manent cure.

2d. They are recommended only for one class of diseases.

3d. They are agreeeble and convenient to take, 4th. They contain no poisonous minerals, being purely vegetable.

5th. They do not impair the organic functions of the stomach or any part of the system.

6th. They require no other medicine to prepare the system for their reception, or afterwards to allay irritation.

7th. They are not a northern "catch-penny humbug," but are prepared by gentlemen that were born, reared and educated under the benign influence of southern institutions.

1 FREMEMBER when you purchase these Pills, that YOU ARE NOT contributing means for "Yankee Emigrant Aid Societies," or Sharp's rifles and bowie knives, for "Bleeding Kansas," as you many times have done, in buying northern articles.

We wish all to distinctly understand that this is a SOUTHERN MEDICINE, prepared from the simple lants that grow in our Wood-lands, on our Riverbanks. Bayous, and Lakes.

1 PAs a special merit, we wish to call attention to the fact, that in using this Medicine you only take a few Pills. Is not this preferable to swallouing a pint of nauseous mixture which, at best, can only produce the same result?

1 Price $1 per Bottle.

ONE DOLLAR and four 3 cent postage stamps, inclosed to the Proprietors or to almost any Dealer in Medicines in the Southern States, will insure a bottle of Pills by return mail.
